THOPICAL FERNS .- By the bark D. C. Murray, Mr. W. R. Frink, the fernist, shipped forty-four packages of choice Hawalian feros and other curios, for which there appears to be a brisk demand in the California market. Among them are about one hundred fern plants of a new variety somewhat resembling the Asparagus plant, which are found only in elevated localities. He has also a transverse section of the trunk of a large pulu fern, measuring about thirty luches in dismoter, the height of the tree, of which this was a part, having been about fifty feet. It will give some idea of this majestic fern, which produces the pula of commerce. Of these trees he took a number of fine specimens We noticed also several bags of the wonderful sonorous sand of Mana, Kausi. What he letends to do with it, we can't imagine, unless it be to construct a sounding or echoing chamber in the new Palace Hotel of San Francisco. We advise curioses, for the U. S. S. Tuscarora, and sity hunters of that city to interview Mr. Frink, and see his rare collection of Island Specimens.

The Honokan Sugar Plantation.

Mn. Emron,-I notice a small article that appear ed in the P. C. Advertises of the 9th inst., speaking of the sugar came at Honokaa, Hamakua, which is quite correct and in place so far as it goes. But to fully convey the facts of the case it requires a little explanation, and for that purpose I very respectfully ask for a small space in the columns of your paper. The frees are as follows, vite: On the Mith day of April, 1873, a party of bard working, industrious can journals as inform their readers that King Kala- men entered into certain covenants and agreements to presente the business of growing and manufacbring about case, at the place above named. Three of whom agreed and bound themselves by contract to plant and raise the care, and deliver the same at will be found in to day's paper. In one of one ex- the millformanpfacture, and when so manufactured changes we find a very Battering account of the | they were to receive for their spare one half of the augur and molasses

The fourth, for the party of the second part, agreed and bound himself by contract to holld and construct a mill, &c., &c., to properly manufacture the sugar case as rabed and delivered, and divide manufacture augar on the 1st day of December 1874. The said planters carried out their part to every particular agreeably to contract, which cost them much hard toll, perseverance and great expense. But the party who agreed to construct the made an assignment of his obligation in and to the said contract to another party, who assumed all agreements, seconding to contract, in his place and stead, declaring himself a man of capital, having the requisite to do it with. But she his money is gone, like a vapor that appeareth but for a short ime and then vanisheth away; he did not observe, outil too late, that money had on one side an eagle with large powerful wings. And now comes the disastrons result. No mill to grind and manufacare 50 acres of as pretty cane as can be produced, which must spoil and rut on the ground, unless some cuterprising gentleman with a little capita steps to and resence them from a total wreck. I do not see any risk in the speculation, as the most difficult part of the play is over, the work is on foot. There is any quantity of good lands, plenty of wood, water available, and a fair landing. What cise is needed? The planters say a mill, and that they must have it is the prayer of yours, Hawali, Jan. 96, 1875. HA
